The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Kicked By A Mad Horse.

Samuel Birch, of Beetown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its the greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it. 25c at W. H. Windrow's.

As It Often Happens.

"Who really catches the most fish, the man with the expensive outfit or the boy with a bent pin?" "I've seen 'em fish all day and neither get a bite," answered the sun-burned citizen.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Healing Salve for Burns, Chapped Hands and Sore Nipples

As a healing salve for burns, sores, sore nipples and chapped hands, Chamberlain's Salve is most excellent. It allays the pain of a burn almost instantly, and unless the injury is very severe, heals the parts without leaving a scar. Price 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"Don't marry your stenographer," advises the Philosopher of Folly. "She belongs to the union and knows the rules and she'll never let you hire another one."

In cases of rheumatism relief from pain makes sleep and rest possible. This may be obtained by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

A Bachelor's Fear.

"I wouldn't trust myself in India," said the unmarried man. "Afraid of wild beasts?" asked the benedict. "Not a bit; but I see there are 26,000, 000 widows in India!"

D'HANIS DOINGS.

Items of Interest Culled or Condensed from The D'Hanis News.

Henry P. Koch celebrated his 27th birthday last Sunday. A large crowd of relatives and friends were present to spend the day and enjoy a big dinner. Fine refreshments were also served in the afternoon and all enjoyed themselves splendidly.

Joe Finger has sold his meat market to Alfred Nester & Bros. of this place. They will take charge April 1st, and will continue to conduct the business at the old stand.

Constipation brings many ailments in its train and is the primary cause of much sickness. Keep your bowels regular madam, and you will escape many of the ailments to which women are subject. Constipation is a very simple thing, but like many simple things, it may lead to serious consequences. Nature often needs a little assistance and when Chamberlain's Tablets are given at the first indication, much distress and suffering may be avoided. Sold by all dealers.

Meeting Success.

The trouble with many of the people who go out to meet success is that they expect it to come considerably more than half way.

The correct treatment for cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, sores, lumbago, rheumatism or neuralgia is Ballard's Snow Liniment. It is healing, penetrating and antiseptic which is every thing that is needed to effect a complete cure. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Self-Gratification.

A woman likes to boast, even if it's only over the fact that she has been invited to a party that her neighbor hasn't.

Every family that has children is liable to have croup; invariably at night. If Ballard's Horehound Syrup is kept in the house, it saves going after the medicine at an inconvenient time and checks the attack promptly. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Slow Suicide.

No one has the right to work up to the limit of daily strength. It is slow suicide. If your work is too heavy say so to your employer.

"Our baby cries for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. T. B. Kendrick, Rasaca, Ga. "It is the best cough remedy on the market for coughs, colds and croup." For sale by all dealers.

We only see in a lifetime a dozen faces marked with the peace of a contented spirit.—Beecher.

Lame Shoulder is nearly always due to rheumatism of the muscles, and quickly yields to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

A Hopeful Message to Scalp Sufferers and Men Whose Hair is Thinning

Dandruff now—bald later. The same is true of scalp diseases. In fact, baldness is a scalp disease. The trouble with the greasy salves and lotions, the so-called dandruff and scalp cures you have tried so far is that they don't do any thing but temporarily relieve the itching and make the dandruff so it does not fall until it's dried out again. Nothing can cure—really cure such troubles but a real scalp medicine that will kill the germs causing dandruff and scalp disease.

Learning from leading fellow druggists throughout America that they had found a whirlwind cure for dandruff, eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp, the Windrow drug store, on proving to the laboratories compounding the treatment that it is the most prominent drug store in this city, secured the agency for the remedy. This remedy is ZEMO, the clean, liquid preparation that kills the germ of disease and ZEMO SOAP to wash the scalp or skin clear and clean of the dandruff or scale and by its antiseptic qualities soothe and heal.

Sold and guaranteed by druggists everywhere and in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

Both Do Mischief.

In life it is difficult to say who do you the most mischief, enemies with the worst intentions or friends with the best.—Bulwer-Lytton.

If you eat something which disagrees with you, don't let it work its own way through. It's a slow process and makes you feel bad. Get rid of it quickly by taking a dose of Herbine. It drives out impurities in the stomach and bowels and you feel better immediately. Price 50c. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.
The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.
Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to delicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free.

A Sad Death.

Sebastian Deckert, a well-to-do farmer residing about four miles southwest of Hondo, died about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 5, 1911, from the effects of a gun shot wound.

The deceased had been in bad health for the past two years from the effects of a sun stroke, but the family had no intimation of what was impending until the report of a gun shot attracted them and a search revealed the body of the deceased a short distance from the house by a fodder stack. The charge from a twelve gauge shot gun had taken effect in his head and evidently produced instant death. Justice of the Peace A. M. Lamm and Constable Aug. Schuehle and physicians at once repaired to the scene where an inquest was held. The body was interred in the Hondo cemetery Thursday morning, Rev. A. Falkenberg, pastor of the Hondo Lutheran church, conducting a funeral service. A large concourse of relatives and friends, especially from D'Hanis, attended the funeral.

Mr. Deckert was born at D'Hanis and was about 54 years of age. He was married in early life to Miss Theresa Batot who with their five children, Henry, Charles, Justina, Theresa and Lilly, survive him. He is also survived by five brothers, Jack, Ignatz, Frank, Anton and Albert Deckert, and one sister, Mrs. Joe Zuercher of Devine. The Anvil Herald joins in sympathy for the bereaved family.

Saves Time on the Farm

THE farmer with the Bell Telephone Service at hand, doesn't have to travel in rainy weather.

The Bell Telephone Service saves him all that. There are always a lot of rainy-day chores about the farm.

Instead of spoiling a day in going to town, the farmer goes to his Bell Telephone and does his business. The time saved can be spent profitably.

That is why he would not think of being without the Bell Telephone Service. It is poor economy to try to get along without it. Consult our local manager.

Why Hesitate?

An Offer That Involves No Risk For Those Who Accept It

We are so positive our remedy will completely relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish it free of all cost if it fails.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are eaten like candy, and are particularly ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on the other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively overcome chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Falkenberg & Martin.

Buzzard Freed of Trap.

After a chase of three hours, Abram Layton and his son captured one of the largest buzzards ever seen in this section. Attached to the bird's leg was a steel trap and an iron chain three feet long. The buzzard was so emaciated that it could hardly fly with its burden, which it had evidently carried for months, as the wound made by the snapping of the steel trap had entirely healed.

The bird did not show fight, but seemed glad to get rid of its burden, and it looked so pitiful that Mr. Layton had compassion on it and set it free.—Clayton Correspondence Philadelphia Record.

Don't be Bald

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair

We have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 93 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test. We are so certain Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. With our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Falkenberg & Martin.

Already Accomplished.

A patient had called upon Dr. Rice and asked for a diagnosis of his ailment. Dr. Rice began his part by demanding $10 of the patient. Then he proceeded with the examination. After submitting the patient to the usual tests, he said: "I don't like to alarm you unnecessarily, but I find that you are in a bad way. While I do not abandon hope of being able to help you, I deem it proper to advise you to settle your financial affairs." To which the patient replied: "Doc, you did that when you took the $10."

The Happy Family Circle.

Father and mother, sisters and brothers seek to know one another's intimate affairs and the little bowel and liver disturbances soon become household comment. It is well to remember that in constipation and indigestion, and other troubles of the stomach, liver and bowels a quick cure can be had by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take it tonight and you will feel perfectly well in the morning. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all dealers at 50c and $1 a bottle.

Too Practical an Argument.

"Who was it," shouted the suffragist leader, "who was it that did most to elevate woman?" "Why, the man who invented those high French heels," said a voice in her audience. Then the meeting adjourned.

The Strain of Life

This is a busy, active world, and the man succeeds best who has the greatest health and strength to fight the battles of life. You can't be healthy, strong and clear-minded if you suffer from constipation, dyspepsia, liver trouble, flatulency, heart-burn, etc. To cure these diseases take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great regulator. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed and if you would like to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all dealers at 50c and $1 a bottle.

S. Fly and D. H. Fly are plaintiffs, and Peter Morville, the unknown heirs of Peter Morrie; Peter Morrie, the unknown heirs of Peter Morrie; Jas. S. Gillet, the unknown heirs of Jas. S. Gillet; Thos. Rogers, the unknown heirs of Thos. Plaintiffs allege that they claim the title of said land and premises by virtue of a deed from T. H. Gillet to Peter Morville, or Peter Morrie, or Peter Morrie, dated January 21st, 1856; and that the only claim or title of the above mentioned defendant or any of their heirs, to said land and premises would be by virtue of said patent and deeds.

That plaintiffs bring this suit for the purpose of determining the estate and interest, if any, of each and all of the defendants herein, or any person or persons who may claim under them, in said land and premises, and that the Court may grant the title to the above described land and premises unto plaintiffs, free from any and all claims of said defendants, or any one claiming under them, so as to forever settle by decree of court the title to said land.

That, plaintiffs, Chas. H. Hartmann, Ernest H. Hartmann and Willie J. Hartmann, claim the title to 280 acres of land off of the south side of said Survey No. 538, by virtue of a deed from H. L. Hardt, from Henry Buss and wife, dated January 11th, 1904, filed for record on the 11th day of January, 1904, and recorded in the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, in Book A, No. 33, on page 219.

That plaintiff, Willie J. Plaintiffs further allege and claim that they have a good and perfect title to said land and premises, under and by virtue of the Statute of Limitation of ten years, for the reason that plaintiffs, and those under whom they claim, have had peaceable and adverse possession of said land and premises, cultivating, using and enjoying the same for more than ten years prior to the institution of this suit.

Plaintiffs further allege that the claim of defendants, if any, as by virtue of said tract of land having been patented by the State of Texas to the said Justin Castanie, or Justin Castanie, on the 22nd day of August, 1857, by Patent No. 210, Vol. 16, and that the claim or claims of the other defendants herein, if any, would be on account of them being the heirs-at-law of the said Justin Castanie, or Justin Castanie.

Plaintiffs further pray that said defendants, the names of a part of whom are unknown to plaintiffs, and the residences of all of whom are unknown to plaintiffs, be cited by publication, as prescribed by the Statutes of this state and upon a final hearing in the case, that plaintiffs have a judgment and decree of the Court, declaring and adjudicating the title to the above land and premises to be in plaintiffs herein, free from all claims in favor of said defendants, or any of them, or any person claiming under them, and for such other and further relief, special and general, legal or equitable, to which plaintiffs may be entitled.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

HOW TO TELL HER

By LOUISE OLNEY

(Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

His worry began the moment he met Alice Thorne. He was afraid he could not keep away from her, and he knew that if he did not he was doomed to fall in love. He was not ready to fall in love—thoughtful observation of his comrades showed him that such a state usually progressed into matrimony. And he was not ready, financially or sentimentally, for marriage. It had always been his idea that a man should be at least thirty before taking such a step, and that he should not ask a girl to share his early business struggles. And he was only twenty-five and just beginning to make good with the rum-down factory his father had left him. John Stoner began to do some steady thinking on the subject—which never yet in the world's history has helped a man in his love troubles.

The first self-suggestion was to flee, to refuse on plea of extra busy times all the summer gayeties planned during her stay at the home of his friends, the Eltons. The next one, the fatal one, was that perhaps that one little dance had cast a glamour over charms which would vanish by day. He would go to the all-day picnic planned for Sunday, and freckles on her nose or a frown in her temper, and be cured. This was a beautiful plan, but it did not work out. He went to the picnic, was cast by Fate as her partner, found the freckles, which, however, only added piquancy to her fair beauty. Also when she fell into a passion because another man shot a bird—John found it an admirable thing in her.

When he reached home that night he worried more than ever—because he was mortally afraid that he could never in the world get her to love him. Jim Elton told him tales of her notice him, and he was finally, at all the small picnics and dances and motoring trips, thrown into the society of Edith Shore.

One worry changed itself into another. Edith acted as if she owned him, and he was afraid Alice was not in the least troubled. Then a comforting light came to him via Mrs. Jim's careless conversation.

"I can't see," said that small lady, "why Alice detests Edith Spore as she does—she will hardly treat her well enough so I dare ask her to the house! She calls Edith a 'horrid cat,' and won't say why. I can't see that the girl has been anything but lovely to Alice. And I've been watching like a hawk to discover any reason for it—she surely can't be jealous?" Then the talk flowed into other channels.

But John went home that night with a new hope in his heart. Did she hate Edith because of his absorption in the latter? How could he find out? He would have liked to ask her flatly—it was his method of doing things.

The next afternoon he went out to Elton's, asked for Miss Thorne, and asked her to go canoeing with him. She assented a little languidly but pleasantly, and suggested taking lunch so they would not have to get back to dinner unless they liked—and "unless you have some evening engagement," she added. He declared himself unexpected and unattached for as long as she would have him about.

By the time the cook had prepared the lunch, and Alice had rid herself of several callers, it was well toward evening before they got away. John launched his pretty canoe, helped the girl in, and paddled close in to shore under the cool shadow of the overhanging trees.

It was very quiet and restful, and something like peace stole into the man's heart as he studied the sweet face opposite his and marked its expression of content. It seemed so natural for them to be together that he could have sworn that she was thinking the same thought at the same moment. He once half opened his lips to tell her how close she came to his heart, and then he was assailed by a doubt as to how to tell her.

He kept on paddling—at least he could do that well. He did it Indian fashion, kneeling, using a single blade. The wind stirred his heavy dark hair about his head, and the wistfulness in his eyes as he looked at the girl made her suddenly sensitive to his gaze. Her clear blue eyes met his dark ones and wavered away, while a veritable wave of a rosy blush submerged her face. His pulse beat hard and fast—oh, she did care, she did, she must! He forgot his doubts as to the right manner, and suddenly said:

"Alice—Alice—when she gave a sudden nervous little twist, and in a moment they were both in the water, struggling to keep above the surface. The girl was a swimmer, but she let him keep an arm about her. She shook the water from her face, let the current drag back her hair, and gave him a mischievous look.

"What were you saying when I interrupted by tipping you out?"

"I was just going to ask you to marry me," he spluttered, "but if you prefer attempting suicide and murder to hearing me out—"

He stopped for breath, and then finished righting the canoe. "Now," he said, "I shall have to get you ashore somehow. As you see, the paddle has gone down stream. You're a pretty good swimmer, and if you'll keep beside me, I can get the canoe to land and improvise a paddle to get back with. Shall we start?"

She hesitated, then laughed a little, blushing again.

"I forbid you to mention—what you were going to—on land." He interrupted her with masculine rudeness.

"All right—then I'll have it out here. I love you and want you to marry me. Will you?" He put an arm about her, drawing her closer to him. She did not answer, and he shook her a little.

"I'm—a little scared, and pretty—wet, but if you don't mind taking me—like this, why I suppose—"

Again he interrupted her, but not by mere words.

"It's rather wet," she said demurely beneath her breath, "the—kiss, I mean."

Then, without warning, she broke from his hold and swam swiftly away from him to the shore. He followed more slowly with the canoe, and finally clambered out upon the sand, where she stood wringing the water from her long hair.

"And this one is wet, too—and this, and this," he said in a dry tone.

She laughed, but she denied neither the sentiment nor the fact.

It Was Very Quiet and Restful.

conquests in the west, and of how she had refused a score or so of good men and true, not caring enough even to wear their scalps at her belt. Jim said she was the most indifferent little minx in creation and superfluously advised his friend to chase about with her and be amused and amusing, but to leave his nice, solid, marriageable heart locked up in his top bureau drawer. This was fine advice, and suffered the common fate of advice—it was not taken. John assented readily—and went on to his fate, not blindly, but with his eyes wide open.

With possible marriage staring him in the face, he redoubled his business efforts—there was a certain little house he wanted to buy and furnish in case—anything should happen.

And he intended to make things happen. Alice Thorne's career was followed by happenings. He began to devote himself wildly to her, though saying no word of his feelings. Then in the watches of the night he would review his actions of the day, cursing himself for a stupid idiot that knew nothing about women. A month before he would have called himself a wise man for knowing nothing about them.

One miserable night after he had been especially entertaining to her all the evening, he recalled a story he had read somewhere in which a man had won a skittish and elusive maid by using the weapon of indifference. Should he try indifference? Could he try it without her seeing the ruse?

The next evening he let himself, with apparent reluctance, be absorbed by the wilful fascinations of Edith Shore. Edith, had he known it, was more than ready for a sentimental encounter with this handsome young man whose lack of interest in her sex had piqued all the girls in the set that was logically his. But she was too wily to be openly gratified—she hedged and fenced, and was, moreover, so really charming, so genuine, that he found it very pleasant, even though Alice Thorne was showing the most subtly flattering willingness to be adored by a man ten years her senior.

From then on things were in a hopeless tangle. When he went back to Alice she was too occupied to

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $50,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Carfield and General Sherman F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review or Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the only accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War as it never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.
